Interdisciplinary
show for youngsters
from 18 months
to 5 years old

Téqui ("Who-Are-You") and Téoù ("Where-Are-You") fold and refold paper and cardboard, play with sound and lights to create small scenes in a delightful ritual to help them understand each other and explore the boundaries and pathways from the Self to the Other.

Téqui likes the earth and what grows in it; Téoù prefers space and what floats in it; and as they play their games, their feet become cars, their heads houses, their arms pathways, and their voices cities.

Where I Live explores "the state of inhabiting": inhabiting one's body, one's house, one's village and one's planet. In an easy and simple manner, the young audience members are invited to consider these big questions with us.
